

Please provide the citizens of the united states this one of our founding principals. The right to privacy in ones home! Now once upon a time, there was this tyrant that could send people into the homes of the people that lived in the 13 colonies. It didn't take real long for some to take action to claim their right to create a country that provided their citizens with a resemblance of selfcontrol and the right to allow or not allow stranger into their homes.